

SERIOUS INSPECTIONS

Serious Games

Let Harry help you train.

Harry's Hazardous Day – a new, engaging approach to pre-shift inspections and workplace hazards training:

Teach inspection practices by role-playing in rich, story-driven scenarios.

Explore worker rights and responsibilities: You see it, you own it!

Hone alertness and awareness skills in realistic environments with distracting situations.

Improve safety and reduce citation rates in your workplace!

Includes top citations:

- Guarding of moving parts
- Guards in place while operating
- Damaged, inadequate electricals
- Safe travelways to work areas
- Berms, guardrails around drop-offs
- Housekeeping, orderly work areas
- Haulage safety defects

Key program features:

- MSHA's "Rules to Live By"
- Team-based play with coworkers
- Common communication issues
- Customizable to your workplace and training needs
- Scenarios for aggregates: Sand, gravel, and cement

Contact us to see how you can use Harry's Hazardous Day in your training.

Contact:
Leonard D. Brown, Ph.D.
ldbrown@arizona.edu

THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA

Lowell Institute for Mineral Resources